

In a vast realm where the stars do sigh, Beneath the canvas of the infinite sky, Where moonlit dreams and wishes fly, Refusing ever to fade or die, A silent whisper, a secret lullaby, Sings of times gone by, as the world spins, you and I.

Upon a vast and sprawling canvas wide, Where nature's masterful strokes reside, Emerald forests, oceans' endless tide, Golden deserts, mountains in their pride, The dance of life, in colors amplified, Twirls and leaps, side by side, worldwide.

Between the spaces, time does deftly weave, Ancient tales, legends that never leave, Stories of hope, love's reprieve, The threads of destiny, where dreams believe, In a tapestry intricate, where fates interleave, Unfolding sagas that captivate and deceive.

A heartbeat, persistent, echoes soft and low, In the tender embrace of twilight's afterglow, The universe, a grand and timeless tableau, Holds deeper mysteries than we might ever know, With galaxies swirling, and stars that bestow, Wondrous secrets, in their radiant show.

So let's embark, without hesitation or delay, Upon the dawn of a brand new day, Through fields of gold, and pathways of gray, Hand in hand, together we'll find our way, In this intricate dance, this life's grand ballet, Navigating challenges, come what may.